Eucharist: The gift of Christ Himself:

Some robbers came once to a hermitage and said, 'We've come to take everything out of your cell'. The hermit said, 'Take whatever you see, my sons.' So they took what they found in the cell, and went away. But they missed a little bag that was hidden in a corner. The hermit picked it up, and ran after them, shouting, 'My sons, you missed this; take it.' They were amazed at his patience and restored everything, and did penance before him. They said to each other, 'Truly, this is a man of God.' (Sayings of the Desert Fathers, Chapter 16, Patience, n. 13).

This story from the desert fathers, set in 4th century Egypt, exemplifies a perfect, literal fidelity to the words of Jesus. We find it delightful, and it makes us smile. We smile because although we find this hermit utterly admirable, it would never occur to us to imitate him.

The purpose of reading today's Gospel is not to make us feel guilty, but to inspire us, and to re-ignite our desire for the Kingdom. We who belong to Christ are reminded today that our deepest desire really is for that holiness to which He calls us. We are here now to express and nourish that desire by coming to Jesus in the Holy Eucharist. Ultimately, the reward we are promised is Christ Himself; the gift Christ makes of Himself.
