Eucharist: Communion with Christ and one another: A Reflection:

Christ understands that we have a terrible hunger for God.that we have been created to be loved, and so he made himself a Bread of life and he said, 'Unless you eat my flesh and drink my blood, you cannot live, you cannot love, you cannot serve'.

He also wants to give us the chance to put our love for him in living action. He makes himself the hungry one, not only for bread, but for love.

He makes himself the naked one, not only for a piece of cloth, but for that understanding love, that dignity, Human dignity.

He makes himself the homeless one, not only for the peace of a small room, but for that deep sincere love of the other. And this is the Eucharist.

This is Jesus, the living bread that he has come to break with you and me.

Blessed Mother Teresa of Calcutta.
